

Nathaniel Naranjo, Director of Operations

Santa Clara Pueblo

Nathaniel Naranjo is an enrolled member of Santa Clara Pueblo, New Mexico. He grew up participating in his cultural traditions throughout his youth and into his adulthood. He currently resides in Santa Clara Pueblo and is a father to Troy Naranjo. Nathaniel graduated from Northern New Mexico College with a bachelor's degree of science and has 10 + years in federal facilities operations and maintenance short-term and long-term planning. He has worked his way through his career at the entry level position, all the way up to the lead and managerial positions. This includes solving complex business processes that involve budgetary and contractual actions using federally appropriated funding for the successful execution of programs at several federal facilities throughout his career. Nathaniel is committed to providing the youth of our community a high standard of facilities and resources where they can learn their Tewa language and their academics and preserve our culture into the future.
